IMPORTANT REPORTS MADE AT MEETING OF COUNCIL

Big Payment of 1910 Taxes During Month of September Shown by Tax Collector

GOOD BALANCE NOW IN THE TREASURY

The report of Tax Collector J. W. Mathias for collections of 1910 taxes during the month of October, was one of the features at the meeting of council last night which was held to take the place of the regular session to have been held on last Monday evening. It showed banner collections of 1910 taxes during the month of $23,858.18 and was as follows:

Face of borough tax.....	$25,118.87
5 percent discount.....	1,255.69
Amount collected.....	$23,858.18
Less 2 per cent commission.....	477.16
Paid treasurer.....	$23,381.02
Amount uncollected duplicate $8,646.83

President J. K. Hein was in the chair and the following councilmen were present C. O. Frye, Dr. A. O. Davis, W. R. Gaut, Councilman O. C. Linn, Charles Schmieler and W. H. Calvert were absent.

The matter of the sewage disposal plant was brought up for discussion but there is nothing done, owing to the absence of W. H. Calvert, member of the special committee, and from the fact there was not a representation of members present. A meeting will be held next Monday at which time the question will be taken up.

Treasurer E. W. Hastings made his report for the month of September showing total receipts of $24,881.17, and disbursements of $14,122.84. During the month the overdraft of $96.74 was paid off, and there is a balance in the treasury of $10,758.87. A noticeable feature in the receipts was the amount received from the State for liquor licenses, the sum being $779.

Burgess G. W. Risbeck made a report showing fines amounting to $90.45 had been assessed, of which $73.45 was paid, the remainder being served out in time. Ex-Tax Collector Parsons' report for 1906, 1907 and 1908 taxes showed the amount of $77.94 had been paid over to the treasurer. A number of bills were ordered paid.

TENER'S PLURALITY OVER BERRY 31,000 IN STATE

Similar Vote Polled by Others on the Ticket

STATEMENT OF SECRETARY

Harry Baker Gives Out Nearly Complete Figures
at Midnight

The latest returns from gubernatorial election of Tuesday show that John K. Tener, Republican, has defeated William H. Berry, Keystone, by a plurality of 31,000. These figures were furnished at midnight by W. Harry Baker, secretary of the Republican State committee. John M. Reynolds for Lieutenant Governor and Henry Houck for Secretary of Internal Affairs are elected by about the same pluralities.

The Congressional delegation from Pennsylvania will stand 28 Republicans and 9 Democrats. This is a gain of four for the Democrats. The districts lost are the Fifth, Eighth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Twenty-second and Twenty-sixth.

The Legislature is still Republican in both branches and will have in joint ballot a majority of over 50, so that any hope of defeating Senator George T. Oliver, who comes up for re-election at the next session, must be accomplished within straight Republican lines.

SEARCHING IN FOUR COUNTIES FOR MAN SUPPOSEDLY THIEF

Livery and Thus Far Has Failed to Return Either

INTENDED TO DRIVE TO BENTLEYVILLE AND BACK

Search is being made over four counties for a horse and buggy valued at $250 which, together with M. E. Greenlee, a Fayette countian, has disappeared. Greenlee hired the horse from Roley's livery barn here on Sunday to go to Bentleyville, and was to return on Monday or Tuesday, but has completely disappeared and no trace of him can be found.

Greenlee went to Bentleyville and left there about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, since when he has not been seen. Yesterday Noah Roley, the manager of the local livery, and Joseph Roley of Belle Vernon, took an automobile trip over part of Washington and Fayette counties and went to the man's home at Waltersburg near Brownsville. He had not been at home for two weeks, it is stated, but his wife received a post card yesterday from him from McKeesport. Joseph Roley is in that place today trying to get some trace of the man.

The horse was valued at $125. It is a jet black animal, weighing about 900 pounds. The buggy was black with red running gear, and had rubber tired wheels. Greenlee who is well known by both the Roleys, is described as being a comparatively small man, weighing about 135 or 145 pounds, about 5 feet 6 inches tall and of a dark complexion. No warrant has been sworn out for him yet, but Mr. Roley the local manager stated this morning there would be as soon as he could be located.

TAVERN TO BE RAZED

At Canonsburg
Doomed

The old Black Horse Tavern, at Canonsburg, which has been a historical landmark since 1793, has been ordered razed to make way for the erection of a $75,000 public school building. At a meeting of the Canonsburg school board, Monday night, it was decided to tear down the tavern, which is owned by the borough and utilize the property upon which it stands for school purposes. Daniel J. McCarthy, a contractor of Canonsburg, was given the contract for razing the building.

An effort to prevent the destruction of the historical structure was made by the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution but it was pointed out by the member of the school board that the tavern had not been erected until after the Revolutionary war had ended. It was built by Colonel John Cannon in 1793. James E. McNary, a local contractor is also interested in endeavoring to have the Pennsylvania Historical Society make an effort to save the tavern.

TRUE BILL RETURNED

Charleroi Man Held on a Charge of Burglary

The grand jury resumed work yesterday morning at 9:15 and a number of cases were disposed of yesterday. In several cases true bills were returned as to some of the charges in the bills and ignored as to other charges.

Among the true bills was one against James "Tuck" Larimer, charged with burglary. The prosecutor is S. E. Wilson. He claims Larimer entered his home and stole a coat and some other articles.

MATTHEWS AND BENTLEY BOTH WIN IN THE COUNTY

Berry's Plurality Over Tener Cut Away Below That Claimed by Keystone Backers
by Latest Returns

JUDSON PROBABLY WINS OVER ANDERSON

Complete returns from all the precincts show that Berry has carried Washington county over John K. Tener for Governor by a plurality of 662. A comparatively light vote was polled, 17,001 ballots being cast for Governor against 20,298 for president in 1898.

Of the vote for Governor Berry got 8,013, Tener 7,351, Grim 705, Larkin 247, and Slayton 684. The Democratic vote which is normally about 5,000 in off years was almost entirely obliterated, as well as the Prohibition vote, which is normally about 1,000. The full count shows the following pluralities:

Governor	Berry.....	8,013
	Tener.....	7,351
Berry's Plurality.....		662
Congress	Matthews.....	7,855
	Wilson.....	7,393
Matthews' Plurality.....		462

	Judson.....	7,506
Anderson's Plurality.....		713

Green County	Judson.....	2,513

Judson's Plurality.....		774
Judson's Plurality in district.....		61

Assembly	Bentley.....	7,792
	Post.....	7,438
Bentley's Plurality.....		356

Assemblyman Charles Bentley, against whom a fusion was effected by the Acheson interests with the Democratic and Keystone parties, pulls through and has 356 of a plurality over his opponent, Post. Charles Matthews of New Castle has been elected to Congress from the Twenty-fourth district, over Wilson, the Democratic-Keystone candidate. Matthews carries his home county, Lawrence, by 1,113 and Washington by 462, but lost Beaver by 756. His pluralities in Washington and Lawrence pull him through by 809. A. H. Anderson, candidate for Senator, however, is probably defeated by 61 of a plurality. He carried Washington over Judson, his Democratic Keystone opponent, by a plurality of 713, but Judson carried Greene county, which is normally Democratic, by 774.

Governor-Elect and Mrs. John K. Tener were honor guests at a birthday party of the former's elder brother George E. Tener, at the latter's home in Sewickley yesterday. This birthday dinner is an annual event, and it was made more joyous by the result of the election Tuesday, which conferred a great honor upon a worthy member of the Tener family.

Money Will be Devoted to
Accommodations

North Charleroi, by a vote of 76 to 9, ratified a proposition to increase by bond issue the indebtedness of the school district by $22,000 at the election Tuesday. Arrangements will be made shortly to secure the money, and it will be devoted to the construction of a new school building at North Charleroi. The present school building is inadequate, and it is necessary to rent a room in the town for extra accommodations.

The next event of importance at the Coyle Theatre will be the engagement of Clarence Bennett's production "A Royal Slave" and the management of the theatre is to be congratulated upon securing an attraction of such magnitude. The play which deals with life in Old Mexico, the most romantic time in its history, during the reign of the unhappy Maximilian, abounds in many thrilling situations, at the same time containing a beautiful heart-story of interest. The play will be here Monday evening, November 14.

Election Returns

The worst that E. F. Acheson has done in his fight against the Republican party in Washington county is to elect a Democratic State Senator, which is to be regretted. Fortunately the next Legislature will be so overwhelmingly Republican that the loss of this Senatorial district will not be vital to Republican policies. However, Mr. Acheson will be responsible for whatever opposition and obstructions his patron may be able to interpose.

No doubt Mr. Acheson will lay flat-teringunction to his scul, because his aim, as carried Washington county and the Congressional district against John K. Tener for Governor. While
this may be a matter of personal exultation for a brief period, it is only transitory. It cannot restore Mr.
Acheson's lost political prestige, nor rehabilitate him in the good graces and esteem of the electors of the county. That esteem was forfeited long ago and his prestige has gone forever. Neither can Mr. Acheson use the Keystone party as a club in defeating political county nominations
Assemblyman Charles A. Bentley
shows most conclusively that the deflected Republican vote Tuesday was due to the spirit of insurgency that is swamping over the country, and not to the peculiar beliefs and methods of the Keystone party. Mr. Acheson simply went along, rather than created the conditions which caused the sweep against the Republican party this fall.
Washington county is still Republican and E. F. Acheson will never again dominate its political policies and affairs.

Back to Earth

With the election over and the various political parties either elected or defeated, it is well to eliminate the political hysteria that has dominated to a greater or less degree the minds and actions of the
each person's success or failure, his happiness and well-being, depends almost entirely on his own individual actions, energy and conduct. All that the State can do is to guard his life and property, and to insure him civic and religious freedom. Further than this, each citizen must take care of his own destiny. The State cannot and will not grant to some special privileges that gives them an advantage over others, and the law of justice and humanity that custom and public opinion upholds will be inexorably maintained.

At the present time the country is in a period of much social unrest and discontent. The high cost of living is popularly thought to be the cause, but the real reason is national extravagance. People want more than they can buy and pay for.
Their desires and appreciation have been educated and trained far beyond their means of gratifying these tastes.
All talk or thought of what the State can do to mitigate this discontent is the merest folly, and until people get back to earth again and make the old virtues of frugality, thrift and economy the leading rules of life and insist upon public affairs being administered along the safe and sane lines laid down in the constitution, more or less chaos and discontent is bound to prevail.

Beginning to Hedge

Having contributed what it could toward Republican defeat in the State in the campaign just ended, the Pitts-
and is trying to mitigate the efforts of its actions. It now advocates a tariff commission to take this troublesome question out of politics, in view of the business disturbance it will create.

With the Democratic sweep that has lost to the Republican party the control of the House of Representatives, and which will give renewed hope of Democratic success at the Presidential election two years
hence, a gigantic tariff agitation is inevitable. This, as was readily foretold before the election, will be disastrous to business interests, in view of the uncertainty that it will entail, during which business enterprises will stand still while awaiting the long drawn out adjustment, and the subsequent delay and confusion necessary to adapting affairs to new conditions. Now that this condition confronts us the Dispatch is trying to undo its previous work by trying to palliate the business chaos that must follow the result of the insurgency movement that brought about the great political landslide on Tuesday.

In this the Dispatch will not be successful. The people have acted radically, and they will demand radical action on the part of the representatives they have elected to carry out their views on tariff and economic legislation.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Berry couldn't come back.
Poor Col. Roosevelt failed to carry
New York, after he had gone to all the trouble of picking a man for Governor. Doubtless he had a new big stick, which brought him ill luck.

Count Reppelin is coming to America. He is going to bring along his dirigible, but is not going to attempt crossing the Atlantic in it.

The North American's circulation has suddenly decreased with a suddenness that speaks bad for the paper's influence.

"Civic beauty pays." Says a wise man. You bet your life.
Pittsburg.

Joe Cannon had one fight for re-election and, as he is habitually inclined, came out victorious. The next will be the fight for handling the gavel.

Most any person could have written the kind of story the Pittsburg Leader would publish on the election.

All that is necessary is a vivid imagination and an absolute disregard of fact.

Let's see, where does E. F. Acheson hang out?

Poverty is one kind of a blessing
we never grudge an enemy.

President Taft made a stop in Pittsburg, when he went through.
How very kind of him.

It is now time to ponder what to gossip about, now that election is

A Democratic victory in many of the States could not do otherwise than make William J. Brayn slightly angry. But of course he will have

ity in 1912. This is too much.

Sense of Humor.

An East Indian officer, writing of life in Peshawar in the early seventies of the last century, relates the following:

The medical officer of my regiment was informed one night that a valuable and favorite Arab steed of his had been stolen. Over the border, gone forever, he never expected to see his horse again, but next day, much to his surprise, there came to him a bearded ruffian riding bare backed the stolen steed.

He confessed that he had taken the animal, but, learning that it was the property of a hakim (physician), had
men, women and children sleeping in the open about them.

"How did you manage it?" asked
the doctor.

"If the sahib will give the necessary order," he said, "I will show him."

The entire scene was reproduced, even to the night watchman asleep in a corner. Noiselessly the Afghan crawled toward the Arab, treading snakelike through the prostrate forms to where it was standing at the end of
animal's attention without causing alarm, he gently raised himself with arm extended.

In his open palm were some lumps of gourd (native sugar), beloved of horses, and while the Arab was enjoying those the man was caressing him with the other hand, whence suspended a watering bottle taken from his waist. Quickly this was adjusted, and then, stroking soothingly, the robber passed his hand over the animal's back and down the hind quarters.
Swiftly the heel ropes were unhooked, then the head gear released, and with a bound he was astride and away, his right hand backward down, shouting triumphantly as he passed, "Thus was
it done!"

The joke was that he never came back! A double restitution would have been too much of a wrench.

They Should Not Be Renovated With
the Shoebrush.

If men would devote as much loving care to their whiskers as women do to their hair they would contribute great-

downtown without having her hair properly arranged. She combs it, and fusses with it, and pads it out with
runs ribbons through it, and she is a vision of loveliness when she appears in the busy haunts of men.

But a man gives his whiskers no attention further than to brush the eggshells or clam chowder out of them
occur to him that his whiskers might be made beautiful if he would devote one-half the time to them that a woman gives to her hair. He might easily have made a wire cage to attach to his chin, and then he could weave his whiskers around it in captivating styles and tie the ends together with a pink or blue ribbon.

The alfalfa editor gets tired of seeing the same old fashions in whiskers when it would be so easy to devise new and striking ways of wearing them.

There should be a whiskers club in Emporia. If such an organization were formed and the members held weekly meetings to exchange ideas and compare notes the results would soon be apparent. The town's whiskers would soon become distinctive, and their reputation would cover the country.

Let us have a new deal in spinach.—

A Deadly Weapon.

There is a horrible weapon favored by certain of the hill tribes in the Ghats of western Asia, which consists of four sharp, curved blades hidden under the fingers and securely held in place by rings passing over two of them. With such a contrivance Shi-vaj, the Maratha hero, is credited with having disemboweled his Mohammedan overlord when making a pretense of rendering him his humble submission. The vagabonds ("tiger's claws"), as they are called, are distinctly more brutal than their western prototype, the "knuckle duster."—

Its Destination.

"Here's a nickel," said a thrifty housewife to a tramp at her door.
"Now, what are you going to do with it?"

"Well, mum," replied the hungry man, "if I buy a touring car I shan't have enough left to pay my chauffeur;
if I purchase a steam yacht there won't be enough left to defray the cost of manning her, so I guess, mum, I'll get a schooner and handle it myself."

The Stoical Mountaineer Simply Answered the Question.

"For stoical indifference and tacit-urnity," said a young man from Knoxville, Tenn., who was visiting in Louisville a few days ago, "I never saw any one that could equal the Kentucky mountaineer."

"Two years ago I was camping during the summer with a party of young men and women in the mountains.
During our stay there we became acquainted with an old mountaineer whom we called Sam. He always re-
fell into the same habit.

"Last year we returned to the same place to camp. As we were going up
we met Sam walking along apparently in a deep study.

Maria?'"

"She's comin' back there," he said, directing his thumb backward over his shoulder.

"We went on up the mountain path and a short distance farther came upon a party of mountaineers transporting a dead body in a rickety wagon. It was a funeral party. Imagine our surprise when we were informed that the deceased was Maria. Sam had not thought it worth his pains to inform us that Maria was dead when he stated she was 'comin' back there.'—Louisville

Man Who Was Investing.

other day to buy a diamond ring.

"'For a lady?' the clerk asked me
I told him it was.

"An engagement ring?' he asked me
further.

"Yes," I told him, getting a little bit peevish, but I don't see what business it is of yours that I intend to do with the ring after I've paid for it out of my own private funds."

in a conciliatory tone. "I was just going to suggest that if it was simply a present, with no engagement going with it, you go in for size rather than for quality, and when the girl comes in to inquire about its value we'll be
an engagement ring I would advise you to get the best quality you can find, even if it does mean a smaller stone. Just as a matter of sentiment you'll want to know that it is right,
you can pawn the good ring for two-

The skillful manner in which a pet toad used its wonderfully formed
expert. For one thing, it showed wonderful skill in judging distances.
The tongue was never darted out until
the insect came within a certain range.
The accuracy of the creature's aim was another matter for surprise. The
the tongue was darted out against them, but the arrow never failed to
hit. The rapidity with which the tongue was shot forth excited much
wonder. The operation is a complex
one. The tongue is doubled or folded up when in the mouth. Therefore a twofold action is required, an unroll-ing of the tongue and then the dart-
the tip was not less remarkable. Notwithstanding the rapid motion, the fineness of the tongue tip and the struggles of the prey the victim was never dropped.—Exchange.

Graves In China.

There are various kinds of graves in China. The graves are dug generally from twelve feet to thirteen feet below the ground, while, according to an old custom, the mounds of the graves of emperors were thirty feet in height.
Those of territorial lords fifteen feet
and those of barons without territories and of lord stewards eight feet, while for inferior officials and common people mounds only four feet in height were erected. Pines were planted on
oak on those of territorial lords, a species of willow on those of barons and lord stewards and elm trees on those of inferior officials. Although there are no territorial lords and lord stewards now in China, men of high rank
accordance with this old custom.

James MacNeill Whistler looked upon life as upon a kind of warfare and was never so happy as when he was quarreling with somebody. He is quoted as having said when asked if he did not have many friends: "Yes, I have many friends, and I am grateful to them, but those whom most I love are my enemies, not in a Biblical sense. Oh, no, but because they keep one always busy, always up to the
them idiots."

Then He Sulked.

"Mrs. Guschley remarked to me that it must be pleasant to be married to a clever man," said Proudley's wife.
"And what did you say?" queried Proudley.
"I told her, of course, that I didn't know; that I had only been married once."

one bears great calamities with cheerfulness, not through insensibility, but

For Louis XVIII.

There have been snuffboxes of gold studded with jewels, of delicately carved tortoise shell, of silver, porcelain, ivory, mother-of-pearl, bumble horn, wood and tin, but there is only one living snuffbox on record,
Louis XVIII. of France.

"His majesty's snuffbox," as she was known throughout Europe, was Mme. du Cayla, a fascinating favorite at the Bourbon court. Her place at
of the meal he signified his desire for a pinch of brown powder to titillate his fat nose she took a diamond-crusted box from her pocket, dusted just
the right quantity of perfumed snuff on her snowy right shoulder and presented it to the king, who partook of it with profound pleasure.

As Louis was the greatest snuff-
taker at a court where everybody snuffed constantly, Mme. du Cayla's position was no sinecure, but the human snuffbox was well paid for in indulging the king in his little fad. He presented her with a copy of Roy-mont's Illustrated Bible, and each one of the 150 engravings was covered with a thousand frame note. It was followed with the gift of "Bassnet's Sermons," interleaved with the same valuable paper from cover to cover.—New York

Homer and the Book of Job Allude to the Product.

"Cheese and curdling of the milk are mentioned in the book of Job. David was sent by his father Jesse, to carry ten cheeses to the camp and to look how his teacher fared. "Cheese of fine" formed part of the supplies of David's army at Mahanaim during the rebellion of Absalom.

Homer says that cheese formed part of the ample stores found by Ulysses
in the cave of the Cyclops Polyphemus.
Euripides, Theophrastus and other early poets mention cheese. Ludolphus says that excellent cheese and butter were made by the ancient Ethiopians, and Strabo states that some of the ancient Britons were so ignorant that though they had abundance of milk, they did not understand the art of making cheese.

There is no evidence that any of these ancient nations had discovered
the use of rennet in making cheese.
They appear to have merely allowed the milk to sour and subsequently to have formed the cheese from the case-ous part of the milk after expelling the serum or whey.

As David when too young to carry arms was able to run to the camp with ten cheeses, ten loaves and an ephah of parched corn, the cheeses must have been very small.

the minute electric current required in transmitting speech:

rent is perhaps the quickest, feeblest and most elusive force in the world.
It is so amazing a thing that any description of it seems irrational. It is as gentle as the touch of a baby sunbeam and as swift as the lightning
current of a single incandescent lamp
spoonful of hot water just one degree and the energy set free by the cooling will operate a telephone for 10,000 years. Catch the falling teardrop of
water power to carry a spoken message from one city to another. Such is the tiny gentle of the wire that had to be protected and trained into obedience."

The News by Windmill.

In certain parts of Holland births, marriages and deaths are frequently announced by the windmills instead of
gets married he stops his mill with
the arms of the wheel in an oblique position and with the sails unfurled.
His friends and guests often do like-
ceremony. To indicate a birth the wheel is stopped with the arms in a slanting position, but at a more acute angle than for a marriage and with
a miller die the sails of his mill are all furled and the wheel is turned round until the arms assume an up-
left until after the funeral has taken

Two friends met one day after a long absence. One of them had a very ruddy complexion, and his nose was carmine. The other looked into his face and said:

"Ah, John, I doot!"

But John said he was not to judge by appearances, as he only drank one glass of beer in a day.

"Oh, well," said the other, "yer face, perhaps, is like our gas meter—it regis-

LITTLE RED SPOT.

If He Were Bigger This Spider Would
Be a Real Parol.

Strangely enough, the one really dangerous spider on the American continent is small, obscure and practically unknown to popular or journalistic hysteria. Latrodectus mactans is its
the back—a useful danger signal—and spins a small web in outhouses or around wood piles. So far as is known, its poison is the most virulent and
any living creature. Cobra virus, in the minute quantity which the latrodectus' glands contain, would probably have no appreciable effect upon man, whereas the tiny spider's venom, in the volume injected by the cobra's stroke, would slay a herd of elephants. Were this little known crawling spider as large as the common black hunting spider of our gardens and lawns its bite would be almost invariably fatal. Happily the "red spots" fangs, being small and weak, can with difficulty penetrate the skin and are able to inject venom in dan-
inflicted upon some tender skinned portion of the body. Nevertheless fatalities consequent upon the bite of this insect are sufficiently well attested to take rank as established scientific facts.—Samuel Hopkins Adams in Everybody's.

What Lincoln Said After Harvey Ended a Two Hours' Talk.

The Hon. Peter Harvey, the friend and biographer of Daniel Webster, was a large man with a small voice
and that pomposity of manner that many very diffident men possess.
himself upon his friendship with

The first year of the war between
President Lincoln.

"Well," he said, "Mr. Lincoln is a very singular man. I went on to see him and told him that I had been an intimate personal friend of Daniel Webster; that I had talked with him so much on the affairs of the country that I felt perfectly confident I could tell him exactly what Mr. Webster would advise in the present crisis, and thereupon I talked to Lincoln for two solid hours, telling him just what he should do and what he should not do,
and, will you believe it, sir, when I got through all Mr. Lincoln said was,
as he clasped his hand on my leg, 'Mr.
Harvey, what a tremendous great calf

Proof of Fairness.

A frown developed on the countenance of the new patient as he studied the bill the physician had handed him. "What do you mean," he at length snorted, "by charging me $25 for a two weeks' treatment when you charged Handerson only $10 for a treatment extending over the same length of time?"

"If you mean that I am not impartial in my charges," retorted the bristling doctor, "I want you to distinctly understand that you have absolutely no foundation for your insinuation. I ordered Handerson to eat three square meals a day, while I forbade you to eat more than one light lunch. Now, sir, if you will add the cost of Handerson's meals to my charge of $10 and compare the result with the cost of
will obtain such proof of my equitable-ness that you, if you are a man, will
kind and unwarranted attack."—Chicago News.

Failing a Fakir.

A story used to be told at Cairo of
sojourns in Egypt. The great naturalist was seated in the shade on the veranda at Sheppard's hotel when the inevitable snake charmer came to him
and produced from his bag a lively specimen of the horned asp—the deadly cerastes. The professor gazed and,
nothing daunted, stopped and plucked
the horns from the head of the reptile wriggling at his feet, remarking to a bystander that the man would probably think twice before trying to palm off upon any one else a harmless snake as a cerastes by the aid of a couple of fish bones. With anybody else the charmer would probably have succeeded. He had tried it on the wrong man.

An Antiseptic Child.

Little Walter was always carefully guarded against germs. The telephone was sprayed, the drinking utensils sterilized and public conveyances and places were forbidden him.

"Father," he said one night in a tone of desperation, "do you know what I am going to do when I grow up?"

"What?" asked his father, preparing himself for the worst.

"I'm going to eat a germ."—Success

Warm Floors Insure the Children's Health

Cole's Hot Blast Draft on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas, which is wasted with all other stoves. The force of this down draft forces the heat to the base which is made of steel—cannot burn out—and heats the floor. Thousands of testimonials have been written regarding the base heating qualities of

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the rooms—instead of letting it go up the chimney. The durable heater is the one which will withstand the severe use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Sheet steel is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast Heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the linings—only first gray cast iron is used. Sheet iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the rooms. Burns Soft Coal, Slack, Lignite, Hard Coal, Wood and lighter fuel. Make your selection now.

Republicans of Pennsylvania Have Important Work Ahead—Proud Place in Affairs of Nation Held by Senator Penrose.

The election of John K. Tener to succeed Edwin S. Stuart as Governor of Pennsylvania was accepted as a fact from the day that Mr. Tener was chosen as the candidate by the Republicans of the State. Mr. Tener's nomination was made in the open. He appealed to the Republican workers for their support in his contest for the nomination and he was the unanimous choice of the nominating convention. He thus became the candidate of the whole Republican party and the opposition to his election came from the organized band of discontents who are never satisfied unless they are accepted as the corpse at the funeral or the bride at the wedding. No candidate in recent years suffered such malicious assaults as were made upon Mr. Tener. He was charged with about every crime on the calendar save murder, yet he was the candidate of the Republican voters of the State and as such he was invincible. If the practice of attacking candidates for public place is to be continued the work of securing able, honest and self-respecting men to submit themselves to the assaults of the vindictive slanderers is certain to become a serious question in this State. Only those whose ambition vaults higher than their self-respect will endure the gruelling bitterness of a campaign to secure public place which at best is generally accepted at a sacrifice and the sycophant, the time-server and the professional place-hunter, whose hide is as thick, usually, as that of an elephant will, without protest, forge to the front and fill the public offices because decency will not venture into politics and pay the penalty now demanded of it.

The campaign just ended was a humiliation and a disgrace. It was attended by deep-seated bitterness, falsehood and slander. That was the price the discontents were willing to pay for advantage and it is gratifying to realize that the offensive offering was not attractive to the bulk of the voters of the State. They refused to sell out for considerations of that character.

Mr. Tener is a staunch Republican. The mendacious attacks upon him were accepted for just what they were worth. He refused to be forced into a mud-slinging contest. He was sustained by the confidence that the principles and policies of the Republican party were unassailable and he submitted to the assaults upon his personal integrity believing firmly that those who knew him best would resent the outrage. It is not consoling that so many voters are so easily swayed by hatred, prejudice and false pretense, and real courage is required to remain silent in the face of such methods as were employed by the political discontents during this campaign, but Mr. Tener manifested that brand of courage and the affairs of the State will not suffer in the hands of any courageous Governor.

Many good Republicans and many good Democrats allowed their intelligence to be played upon by the political discontents but they are certain to be heartily ashamed of themselves when they find that Mr. Tener's highest ambition is to keep the engine of the State government upon the track laid by the regular Republican organization and followed intelligently by Governor Stuart. The deluded voters in looking backward must realize that the policies and principles of the Republican party were at no time assailed. The leaders of the Republican party in State and Nation were applauded at every possible turn because an attack on the party or its leaders would have been a down-right insult to the voters. Now, however, the election is over and the Republican party's work has really begun. A successor to United States Senator George T. Oliver is to be chosen by the Legislature which assembles at Harrisburg immediately after the new year. It is highly probable that Mr. Oliver will be the only Republican candidate for that honor. He has made a brilliant record in the Senate and has already announced as a candidate to succeed himself. But whoever the candidate may be the Republicans of Pennsylvania will not be in default. They will send to the United States Senate a colleague for Senator Boies Penrose who shall be able to assist him in maintaining the recognized leadership in that body, to which he has advanced through his admirable qualities of head and heart. When the next session of the United States Senate is held Senator Penrose will head the most important committees in that great body. He will, in all probability, be closer to President Taft than any other member of the Senate and from his exalted place in the councils of his party and through his intimate friendship with the chief executive he will be able to accomplish much for his party and his State.

Bluevale, Ont., May 4, 1910. "I was sick for two years with a chronic cold and bronchitis and a consequent run-down condition. I received no benefit from doctors, and had to give up work. VINOL was recommended and from the second bottle I commenced to improve—I gained in weight and strength, my cold and bronchial trouble disappeared, and I am at work again. I want to recommend VINOL to anyone who is in need of such a medicine."—THOMAS HIGGINS.

It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cods' livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL which makes it so successful in curing stubborn colds and bronchitis. VINOL is a constitutional remedy for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and pulmonary troubles, not a palliative like cough syrups.

Try a bottle of VINOL. If you don't think it helped you, we will return your money.

The report of Tax Collector J. W. Mathias for collections of 1910 taxes during the month of October, was one of the features at the meeting of council last night which was held to take the place of the regular session to have been held on last Monday evening. It showed banner collections of 1910 taxes during the month of $23,858.18 and was as follows:

President J. K. Hein was in the chair and the following councilmen were present C. O. Frye, Dr. A. O. Davis, W. R. Gant, Councilman O. C. Linn, Charles Schmeiler and W. H. Calvert were absent.

Treasurer E. W. Hastings made his report for the month of September showing total receipts of $24,881.17, and disbursements of $14,122.84. During the month the overdraft of $96.74 was paid off, and there is a balance in the treasury of $10,758.87. A noticeable feature in the receipts was the amount received from the State for liquor licenses, the sum being $779.

Burgess G. W. Risbeck made a report showing fines amounting to $80.45 had been assessed, of which $78.45 was paid, the remainder being served out in time. Ex-Tax Collector Parsons' report for 1906, 1907 and 1908 taxes showed the amount of $77.94 had been paid over to the treasurer. A number of bills were ordered paid.

Search is being made over four counties for a horse and buggy valued at $250 which, together with M. Greenlee, a Fayette county, has disappeared. Greenlee hired the horse from Roley's livery barn here on Sunday to go to Bentleyville, and was to return on Monday or Tuesday, but has completely disappeared and no trace of him can be found.

Greenlee went to Bentleyville and left there about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, since when he has not been seen. Yesterday Noah Roley, the manager of the local livery, and Joseph Roley of Belle Vernon, took an automobile trip over part of Washington and Fayette counties and went to the man's home at Waltersburg

near Brownsville. He had not been at home for two weeks, it is stated, but his wife received a post card yesterday from him from McKeesport. Joseph Roley is in that place today trying to get some trace of the man.

The horse was valued at $125. It is a jet black animal, weighing about 900 pounds. The buggy was black with red running gear, and had rubber tired wheels. Greenlee who is well known by both the Roleys, is described as being a comparatively small man, weighing about 135 or 145 pounds, about 5 feet 6 inches tall and of a dark complexion. No warrant has been sworn out for him yet, but Mr. Roley the local manager stated this morning there would be as soon as he could be located.

by Latest Returns

Complete returns from all the precincts show that Berry has carried Washington county over John K. Tener for Governor by a plurality of 662. A comparatively light vote was polled, 17,001 ballots being cast for Governor against 20,298 for president in 1898.

Of the vote for Governor Berry got 8,018, Tener 7,351, Grim 705, Larkin 247, and Slayton 634. The Democratic vote which is normally about 5,000 in off years was almost entirely obliterated, as well as the Prohibition vote, which is normally about 1,000. The full count shows the following pluralities:

Assemblyman Charles Bentley, against whom a fusion was effected by the Acheson interests with the Democratic and Keystone parties, pulls through and has 356 of a plurality over his opponent, Post. Charles Matthews of New Castle has been elected to Congress from the Twenty-fourth district, over Wilson, the Democratic-Keystone candidate. Matthews carries his home county, Lawrence, by 1,113 and Washington by 462, but lost Beaver by 756. His pluralities in Washington and Lawrence pull him through by 809. A. H. Anderson, candidate for Senator, however, is probably defeated by a plurality. He carried Washington over Judson, his Democratic Keystone opponent, by a plurality of 713, but Judson carried Greene county, which is normally Democratic, by 774.

The latest returns from the gubernatorial election of Tuesday show that John K. Tener, Republican, has defeated William H. Berry, Keystone, by a plurality of 31,000. These figures were furnished at midnight by W. Harry Baker, secretary of the Republican State committee. John M. Reynolds for Lieutenant Governor and Henry Houck for Secretary of Internal Affairs are elected by about the same pluralities.

The Congressional delegation from Pennsylvania will stand 23 Republicans and 9 Democrats. This is a gain of four for the Democrats. The districts lost are the Fifth, Eighth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Twenty-second and Twenty-sixth.

The Legislature is still Republican in both branches and will have in joint ballot a majority of over 50, so that any hope of defeating Senator George T. Oliver, who comes up for re-election at the next session, must be accomplished within straight Republican lines.

The local telephone companies are receiving many compliments for the efficient manner in which they handled election returns on Tuesday night. Both the Bell company and the Charleroi company made special arrangements for receiving the news from over the state and giving it out to their patrons. Extra help was employed. TAVERN TO BE RAZED

The old Black Horse Tavern, at Canonsburg, which has been a historical landmark since 1793, has been ordered razed to make way for the erection of a $75,000 public school building. At a meeting of the Canonsburg school board, Monday night, it was decided to tear down the tavern, which is owned by the borough and utilize the property upon which it stands for school purposes. Daniel J. McCarthy, a contractor of Canonsburg, was given the contract for razing the building.

An effort to prevent the destruction of the historical structure was made by the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution but it was pointed out by the member of the school board that the tavern had not been erected until after the Revolutionary war had ended.

It was built by Colonel John Cannon in 1798. James E. McNary, a local contractor is also interested in endeavoring to have the Pennsylvania Historical Society make an effort to save the tavern.

North Charleroi, by a vote of 76 to 9, ratified a proposition to increase by bond issue the indebtedness of the school district by $22,000 at the election Tuesday. Arrangements will be made shortly to secure the money, and it will be devoted to the construction of a new school building at North Charleroi. The present school building is inadequate, and it is necessary to rent a room in the town for extra accommodations.

The next event of importance at the Goyle Theatre will be the engagement of Clarence Bennett's production "A Royal Slave" and the management of the theatre is to be congratulated upon securing an attraction of such magnificence. The play which deals with life in Old Mexico, the most romantic time in its history, during the reign of the unhappy Maximilian, abounds in many thrilling situations, at the same time containing a beautiful heart story of interest. The play will be here Monday evening, November 14.

licans party in Washington county is
which is to be regretted. Fortunately the next Legislature will
will not be vital to Republican policies. However, Mr. Acheson will be
able to interpose.

No doubt Mr. Acheson will lay hat-ingunction to his scull, because his alliance carried Washington county
transitory. It cannot restore Mr.
sweeping over the country, and not
create the conditions which caused
party this fall, he should have been in Washington county still, Republi-
and affairs.

defeated or defeated, it is well to
has dominated a greater or less
each person's happiness, his
civil and religious freedom. Further than this, each citizen must take his own destiny. The State cannot

public opinion upholds will be inexorably maintained.
their means of gratifying these tastes.

create.

control of the House of Representa-
day.

economic legislation.

Berry couldn't come back.

had suddenly decreased with a sudden-

Pittsburg.

gavel.

Most any person could have written
fact.

son hang out?

we never grudge an enemy.

Pittsburg when he went through.

How very kind of him.

It is now time to ponder what

than make William J. Bryan slightly

ity in 1912.

Leap year and presidential election come in 1912. This is too much.

following:

steed.

the open about them.

the doctor.

a corner. Noisily the Afghan
arm extended.

of poor native sugar, beloved of
ing these the man was caressing him with the other hand, where he suspended a watering bottle taken from his
back and down the hind quarters.
Swiftly the head ropes were unloosed, then the head gear released, and with a bound he was astride and away, his right hand backward flung, shouting

back! A double position would have been too much of a wrench.

the Shoebrush.

styles and tie the ends together with a pink or blue ribbon.

them.

There should be a whiskers club in Emporia. If such an organization
soon be apparent. The town's whiskers would soon become distinctive,

raj, the Maratha hero, is credited with having disemboweled his Mo-
submission. The vagnaks ("tiger's

of manning her, so I guess, mmm, I'll

swered the Question.

"For stoical indifference and taciturnity," said a young man from Kentucky, "I never saw any one that could equal the Kentucky mountaineer."

"Two years ago I was camping dur-
men and women in the mountains.

in a deep study."

shoulder.

I told him it was.

further.

peered, but I don't see what business it is of yours what I intend to do with

one. The tongue is doubled or folded
twofold action is required, an uncoiling of the weapon and then the dart-
finesse of the tongue tip and the
never dropped.—Exchange.

There are various kinds of graves in
accordance with this old custom.

was quarrelling with somebody. He is
he did not have many friends: "Yes,
me always busy, always up to the

Then He Sulked.

Proudley.

know; that I had only been married

For Louis XVIII.

studded with jewels, of delicate en-carved tortoise shell, filigree silver, porcelain, ivory, mother-of-pearl, hum-

Mme. du Cayla, a fascinating favor-
his fat nose she took a diamond-rim-
it with profound pleasure.

position was no sinecure, but the inman snuffbox was well paid for in duelizing the king in his little fall. He presented her with a copy of Baymont's Illustrated Bible, and each one
a thousand franc note. It was followed

the Product.

how his brother fared. "Cheese of fat" formed part of the supplies of
rebellion of Absalom.

in the cave of the Cyclops Polyphemus.
Euripides, Theocritus and other early
cient Indians were so ignorant that though they had abundance of milk,
curdling cheese.

the use of rennet in making cheese.
have formed the cheese from the cas-eous part of the milk after expelling the serum or whey.

must have been very small.

transmitting speech:

and most elusive force in the world.
It is so amazing a thing that any de-
as gentle as the touch of a baby's sun-
the tiny genie of the wire that had to be protected and trained into obedience."

The News by Windmill.

In certain parts of Holland births,

face and said:

glass of beer in a day.

"Oh, well," said the other, "yet face,

If He Were Bigger This Spider Would
Be a Real Pariah.

around wood piles. So far as is known,
spot" fangs being small and weak,
this insect are sufficiently well attested to take rank as established sci-
Everybody's.

What Lincoln Said After Harvey Ended a Two Hours' Talk.

and biographer of Daniel Webster,

President Lincoln.

intimate personal friend of Daniel Webster; that I had talked with him
as he clasped his hand on my leg, 'Mr.

Proof of Fairness.

charged Henderson only $10 for a

"If you mean that I am not impartial in my charges," retorted the bristling doctor, "I want you to distinctly
ordered Henderson to eat three square
eat more than one light lunch. Now, sir, if you will add the cost of Henderson's meals to my charge of $10 and
cago News.

Foiling a Fakir.

ly cerastes. The professor gazed and,

himself for the worst.

Cole's Hot Blast Draft on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas, which is wasted with all other stoves. The force of this down draft forces the heat to the base which is made of steel—cannot burn out—and heats the floor. Thousands of testimonials have been written regarding the base heating qualities of

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the rooms—instead of letting it go up the chimney. The durable heater is the one which will withstand the severe use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Cole's Hot Blast Heater is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast Heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the lining—only first gray cast iron is used. Cast iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the rooms. THE RESULT WAS NOT A SURPRISE

The election of John K. Tener to succeed Edwin S. Stuart as Governor of Pennsylvania was accepted as a fact from the day that Mr. Tener was chosen as the candidate by the Republicans of the State. Mr. Tener's nomination was made in the open. He appealed to the Republican workers for their support in his contest for the nomination and he was the unanimous choice of the nominating convention. He thus became the candidate of the whole Republican party and the opposition to his election came from the organized band of discontents who are never satisfied unless they are accepted as the corpse at the funeral or the bride at the wedding. No candidate in recent years suffered such malicious assaults as were made upon Mr. Tener. He was charged with about every crime on the calendar save murder, yet he was the candidate of the Republican voters of the State and as such he was invincible. If the practice of attacking candidates for public place is to be continued the work of securing able, honest and self-respecting men to submit themselves to the assaults of the vindictive slanders is certain to become a serious question in this State. Only those whose ambition vaults higher than their self-respect will endure the grueling bitterness of a campaign to secure public place which at best is generally accepted at a sacrifice and the sycophant, the time-server and the professional place-hunter, whose hide is as thick, usually, as that of an elephant will, without protest, forge to the front and fill the public offices because decency will not venture into politics and pay the penalty now demanded of it.

The campaign just ended was a humiliation and a disgrace. It was attended by deep-seated bitterness, falsehood and slander. That was the price the discontents were willing to pay for advantage and it is gratifying to realize that the offensive offering was not attractive to the bulk of the voters of the State. They refused to sell out for considerations of that character.

Mr. Tener is a staunch Republican. The mendacious attacks upon him were accepted for just what they were worth. He refused to be forced into a mud-slinging contest. He was sustained by the confidence that the principles and policies of the Republican party were unassailable and he submitted to the assaults upon his personal integrity believing firmly that those who knew him best would resent the outrage. It is not consoling that so many voters are so easily swayed by hatred, prejudice and false pretense, and real courage is required to remain silent in the face of such methods as were employed by the political discontents during this campaign. But Mr. Tener manifested that brand of courage and the affairs of the State will not suffer in the hands of any courageous Governor.

Many good Republicans and many good Democrats allowed their intelligence to be played upon by the political discontents but they are certain to be heartily ashamed of themselves when they find that Mr. Tener's highest ambition is to keep the engine of the State government upon the tracks laid by the regular Republican organization and followed intelligently by Governor Stuart. The deluded voters in looking backward must realize that the policies and principles of the Republican party were at no time as sound. The leaders of the Republican party in State and Nation were applauded at every possible turn because an attack on the party or its leaders would have been a down-right insult to the voters. Now, however, the election is over and the Republican party's work has really begun. A successor to United States Senator George T. Oliver is to be chosen by the Legislature which assembles at Harrisburg immediately after the next year. It is highly probable that Mr. Oliver will be the only Republican candidate for that honor. He has made a brilliant record in the Senate and has already announced as a candidate to succeed himself. But whoever the candidate may be the Republicans of Pennsylvania will not be in default. They will send to the United States Senate a colleague for Senator Boies Penrose, who shall be able to assist him in maintaining the recognized leadership in that body, to which he has advanced through his admirable qualities of head and heart. When the next session of the United States Senate is held Senator Penrose will head the most important committee in that great body. He will, in all probability, be closer to President Taft than any other member of the Senate and from his exalted place in the councils of his party and

Bluevale, Ont., May 4, 1910. "I was sick for two years with a chronic cold and bronchitis and a consequent run-down condition. I received no benefit from doctors, and had to give up work. VINOL was recommended and from the second bottle I commenced to improve—I gained in weight and strength, my cold and bronchial trouble disappeared, and I am at work again. I want to recommend VINOL to anyone who is in need of such a medicine."—THOMAS HUBBINS.

It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cods' livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL which makes it so successful in curing stubborn colds and bronchitis.

VINOL is a constitutional remedy for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and pulmonary troubles, not a palliative like cough syrups.

Try a bottle of VINOL. If you don't think it helped you, we will return your money.

Effective Home Remedy for Tuberculosis

It is a serious matter when the lungs are affected. A trip away or to a sanatorium is not only tremendously expensive, but it involves separation from family and friends. Some are benefited, but none can safely return. Eckman's Alternative is effective—no leaving home necessary. For example:—

Gentlemen: "In the Fall of 1905, I contracted a very severe cold which settled on my lungs. At last I began to raise sputum and my physician then told me I must go to California immediately. At this time I was advised to take Eckman's Alternative. I stayed at home and commenced taking it the last week in October. I began to improve, and the first week in January, 1906, I resumed my regular occupation, having gained 25 pounds, fully restored to health. It is now five years since my cure has been effected and I cannot praise Eckman's Alternative too highly. I have recommended it with excellent results."

W. B. CORSETS

FOR YEARS we have specialized on W. B. Corsets---carry a most complete stock---can fit any figure. We pin our faith to W. B. Corsets and in fifteen years' continuous selling proves that our trade appreciates the quality, the style, the workmanship and the fit. When we say that we can fit any figure we mean that we have the right kind of a corset for you whether you are short and stout or long and thin. A properly rounded out corset is necessary for every form if you would have your clothes fit as they should. Talk to our corset people and look at our new models.

The W. B. Nuform Corsets combine style, perfection and fit with comfort, at popular prices. They are firmly boned, will not rust, and retain their perfect lines. We guarantee them.

W. B. Reduso Corsets do not squeeze, do not force, do not press the figure. Without the aid of any strap or attachment they bring to the wearer that satisfaction that comes from the feeling that you look like most well dressed folks. It isn't every corset that will give these graceful lines to stout people.
